PROFILE SUMMARY

With the average person spending 7 hours a day looking at screens, the need for both delightful and inclusive online experiences is greater than ever. As a passionate UX designer, I ensure the products I work on are informed by user needs, customer research, accessibility standards, and visual design rules. I see design constraints as exciting challenges and I love working with collaborative teams on unique user problems.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Senior UX Designer

August 2016 – Present

Elavon, Atlanta

- Lead UX designer on an agile project team for a web app while balancing multiple stakeholders
- Managed a small UX team and conducted hiring interviews
- Sketched design iterations, produced high-fidelity interactive wireframes for handoff to the dev team, and frequently presented ideas and designs to larger project teams for critique
- Informed design decisions with user research and worked to keep the user at the center of all discussions
- Joined a project team that did not previously have a UX designer, and grew the team over time to view UX as a stakeholder to be thoroughly involved throughout the planning and development cycles
- Gathered, synthesized, and shared monthly insights covering user actions and feedback
- Grew from an intern to a senior designer over 5 years of work and dedication
- Primary research methods: customer surveys, customer interviews, Mixpanel insights, Usertesting.com tests, A/B testing, card sorting, and contextual site visits
